BLANCHE DOW DIRECTING

Stringed Quartette Under Kutschinski Is Preparing Special Music —It is Costume Play.

John Lawton, a member of the Philomathean Literary Society has charge of the ticket sale for "Quality Street," which will be given in the college auditorium April 28. The tickets may be had at the Maryville Drug Store or from members of the society.

"Quality Street" which will be presented by the Philomathean society Thursday, April 28, in the college auditorium, represents a high water mark in the dramatic activity of the college. Written by Sir James Mathew Barrie and made famous by Maude Adams the play has always endeared itself to its audiences. It is only on payment of a fifty dollar royalty that the play is released for production.

The cast has been going through a period of strenuous reheasals under the direction of Miss Blanche Dow and no expense or effort is being spared to make the play artistic and entertaining. A costume play is always interesting in itself and the costumes for the period of "Quality Street" are the becoming empire and directory modes. Those for the ladies of the cast which are being made by Miss Mary Quinlan are very lovely in their different shades. Military uniforms of the napoleonic period for the men have been ordered from Theo Liben, a Kansas City costumer.

A stringed quartette under the direction of Mr. Kutchinski is preparing special music to be played behind the scenes. Miss Olive De Luce is in charge of the arrangement of the stage and Miss Mary MacLeod is assisting in the dancing.

Admission to the play is seventy-five cents. In view of the fact that some of the seats in the college auditorium are more desirable than others a limited number are being reserved and sold for one dollar.

The cast of characters is as follows: Miss Phoebe Throssel, Miss Faye Townsend; Miss Susan Trossel, Miss Esther Foley; Miss Mary Willoughby, Bernice Rutledge; Miss Fannie Willoughby, Miss Helen Baker; Miss Henrietta Turnbull, Miss Anna May Gillis; Charlotte Parrat, Miss Edith Shoemaker; Patty, Miss Maude Fleming; Valentine Brown, Charles Wells; Ensign Blades, Ora McPherron; recruiting officer, John Lawton; children in the school, Jeanne Blacklock, Margaret Dietz, Lela Ulmer, Anna McElvain, James Draper, John England, Herman Miller.

TOKIO CENSUS SHOWS AMERICANS SECOND IN POPULATION

Of 5,245 Foreigners Living in City, 653 are From This Country—Germans Increase.

Tokio, April 23.—Americans rank second in the list of foreigners residing in the capital city of Japan, it was announced recently by the Metropolitan Police Department of Tokio. Of the 5,245 foreigners living in Tokio 653 of them are Americans, according to these 1921 figures.

A notable increase in the Germans living in Tokio is one of the outstanding features of the announcement. As a reason for this is given the fact that German business men are attempting to regain ground lost here during the great war. The fifty Germans who lived in Tokio during the war have increased to 127 already. China ranks first in the list and Great Britain's residents are third. The list follows: Chinese, 2,446; Americans, 653; British, 367; Russians, 227; Germans, 127; French, 92; Filipinos, 37; Hollanders, 28; Swiss, 26; Hindoos, 21; Italians, 21; Swedes, 20; Czechs, 16; Siamese, 15; Portuguese, 13; Belgians, 13; Argentinians, 12; Spaniards, 12; Chilians, 11; Austrians, 8; Danes, 6 Norwegians, 6; Canadians, 5; Australians, 4; Greeks, 4; Bulgarians, 3; Malayans, 3; Finns, 2; Burmese, 2; Brasilians, 2; Mexicans, 2; Rumanians, 2; Luxemburgeois, 2; Persians, 1.

FINANCIAL CRISIS IMPENDS IN TURKEY AT THIS TIME

Terrible Turk Has Gone Down Another Notch in Rope—Government Can No Longer Pay Salaries.

Washington, April 23.—The Terrible Turk has gone down another notch toward the end of his rope.

Turkey's finances are shattered, and the government can no longer pay the salaries of its civil and military functionaires.

Whatever may be left of the Turkish army may go on a strike. American consular reports showed that conditions in Turkey are more chaotic than ever.

The Turkish deficit on account of unpaid salaries for government officials, both civil and military, extends over the past five months. A crisis of serious proportions impends, according to American commissioners at Constantinople.

Allied high commissioners at Constantinople, it was said, now are considering allowing the Turkish government to raise the "specific" duties, to render them equivalent to an 11 per cent ad valorem duty.

Financial relief to some extent may be realized from collection of the property tax from inhabitants of Constantinople, and the revenues from customs, may lighten the burden, it was declared.

But allied representatives, the Department of Commerce was advised, view the situation as most serious, for discontent and disorder among the people are growing daily.

Boston, April 23.—Samuel C. Bauman asked the police of Roxbury to protect him from a practical joker who for three weeks has caused several hundred persons to call at his home looking for positions. Bauman has also received scores of letters and telephone calls from persons who have been similarly misdirected by the unknown joker.

The requests for positions came from persons who had advertised under the "situations wanted" columns of Boston papers.

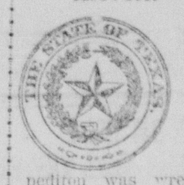
The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE

XXVIII.—TEXAS



THE ill-fated expedition of Navarez was responsible for the first interest in Texas. This large expediton was wrecked at the mouth of the Mississippi in 1528. Four members including Cabeza de Vaca were captured by the Indians and spent eight years wandering through the country eventually reaching the Gulf of California. It was their accounts of rich Indian villages which led the Mexican governor to send Coronada to explore this country. He returned after a two-years' trip without discovering the reputed riches which he was seeking.

To counteract the aggressions of the French settlements in Louisiana, the Spanish established many missions throughout Texas, the most important being at San Antonio. When the United States negotiated the Louisiana Purchase from France they considered that Texas was a part of this territory. Over this question war was nearly precipitated but finally the United States withdrew their claims in exchange for Spain's withdrawal of claims to the Oregon region.

Many Americans began to settle in Texas, among them General Sam Houston and Stephen F. Austin. Mexico became alarmed at this rapid increase of American pioneers which threatened to crowd out the Mexican population. Oppressive measures were adopted and caused the Americans to rise in rebellion in 1836. During this uprising occurred the gallant defense of the Alamo by a handful of Americans and their slaughter by the vastly superior numbers of the Mexicans. "Remember the Alamo," became the Texans' slogan. General Houston decisively defeated the Mexican forces at the battle of San Jacinto and the Republic of Texas was launched with Houston as president. The flag contained one star, and from this has come the name the Lone Star State. After considerable opposition from the North, Texas was annexed to the Union and became the twenty-eighth state.

THE GROWING CHILD

Questions relating to child health and related problems will be answered by experts of the United States Public Health Service. Address: Baby Health Service Edition, U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C.

Protect Your Child's Health.

Health authorities have agreed that the control of tuberculosis demands primarily care of the health of children. More and more they have found that it is in childhood that the seeds of tuberculosis are planted. Prior to the year 1882, no one knew what caused tuberculosis. In that year, however, Dr. Koch, the famous German scientist, discovered a very minute germ which he named the tubercle bacillus, and which he demonstrated was the cause of many different forms of disease in various parts of the body. Study of the tubercle bacillus showed that it grows best in dark, moist places, and that bright, sunshine easily kills the germ. Experience has also shown that while no medicine which one can buy will cure tuberculosis, yet the disease may often be entirely arrested if the patient lives in fresh air, eats good food and gets sufficient rest.

There is one simple rule to follow, which will make it very unlikely that tuberculosis will lay hold on your child. In fact, by following this rule children will be protected against many other diseases. The rule is:

Keep strong. If you keep your body strong and well it will fight off the germs of disease so that they cannot harm you. And here are some smaller rules to make you keep strong:

Always breathe fresh air. Never sleep, study, work or play in a room without a window open.

Eat nourishing food and drink plenty of pure water. Avoid food that is hard to digest, like heavy pastries. Never eat or drink anything that weakens the body.

Make sure that everything you put into your mouth is clean. Wash your hands always before eating and bathe your whole body often. Clean your teeth every day. Do not smoke.

Exercise every day in the open air. Keep your shoulders straight. Take many deep breaths every day.

If you wish to be a crusader against this ogre and wish to keep your city healthful, you must try to keep well yourself.

Not long ago the teacher in one of the city schools noticed that a delicate child of ten years was coughing a great deal and growing pale and thin. The school doctor examined the child and found that she had tuberculosis. After a visit from the school nurse, the parents consented to let the little one go to a sanitorium in the country. Here she had the right kind of food, and plenty of fresh air night and day. At night she slept in a cozy bed out on the porch. She stayed there six months and then returned home rosy-cheeked, plump, happy and strong. The fresh air did it all.

Now that she is back in the city, she attends an open-air school. In this school, even in the coldest weather in winter, the windows are kept wide open. This gives every child plenty of fresh aid and you can see by their fine, red cheeks and their erect and sturdy bodies that it does them lots of good.

There are now ten open-air schools in Kansas City. The open-air schools help the weak children to grow strong so that tuberculosis can't get a hold on them. Such schools are a blessing and we should have many more of them. All of us need a great deal of fresh air to keep us strong.

Next Week At the Movies

At The Electric

If you like to laugh at the antics of a slapstick comedian, you will find all manner of amusement in "The Hick." Larry Semon, recognized as a comedy king, has struck the popular chord in this comedy. He introduces many surprises, many thrills, each with a comedy twist, presents several quaint characters and shows the spectator a score of the most beautiful girls in dances that stay the attention and rivit the eyes upon the screen. Larry also presents a number of trained animals for which his comedies are exceedingly popular.

The wonderful pump cow, who gives a quart of milk every time she wags her tail, the intelligent donkey who does anything he is told and who rescues Larry from the bottom of a precipice, all are samples of the wonderful animals Larry introduces into this comedy.

The modern alarm clock guaranteed to arouse the sleeper, the way to concentrate attention during an explosion, and how to get the better of an officious policeman who refuses to allow you to enter your own house are a few of the novelties Larry Semon shows in "The Hick," Monday and Tuesday.

Not since "Humoresque" has a production conspicuously revealing the childhood of the slums been attempted, with the exception of Realart's "The Plaything of Broadway," starring Justine Johnstone. Many of the most effective scenes of the play are laid on New York's lower East Side, and dozens of children ranging from babies of a few months to half grown boys are shown in these scenes. One group of five, six, seven, eight, nine and ten, respectively, each a distinctive type, was obtained.

The lovable little character of Jimmie is interpreted by Raymond Hewitt. The part affords some spendid scenes with the star, Miss Justine Johnstone, and the lead, Crauford Kent, who portrays the role of the ascetic Dr. Jennings, will be shown Monday and Tuesday together with the Semon Comedy.

On Wednesday Wm. S. Hart will be seen in, "Passible Vengeance" and on Thursday, Norma Talmadge in, "Going Straight." No advance information is available on these pictures, so you will have to go and see them to learn more about them. On Friday the serial of William Duncan in "Fighting Fate" will be shown together with four reels of mixed comedy.

Carmel Myers as a beautiful swindler!

That's something new in the cinema.

In "Beautifully Trimmed," which is adapted from Marguerite Storrs' story "The Orchid," Carmel is one of the leading figures in a little group of willful crooks who manage to fool the newly rich to the tune of many clinking golden ducats.

Their pet stunt is the selling of famous paintings. One, Count Bonzi, an artist of no mean ability, will will copy a masterpiece. Then Norine, "the orchid," hangs it in the living room of her well-appointed apartment on the avenue. People with money "hapen to hear" that this young woman is in a difficult position financially, and that they might be able to purchase the masterpiece from her. They try—and do. And the money is split fifty-fifty.

Another line of the wily band is oil stock, and Norine rings in a childhood friend of hers on a large block of it. The joke is on the crooks when the stock proves valuable. In the meantime, however, Norine has decided that her life is all wrong with the crooks and the childhood friend has decided that his life is all wrong without Norine. The result is—well, why should we give it all away?

The picture will be the feature Saturday night.

At The Empire.

Dorothy Dalton makes an appealing figure as the young wife in the picturization of Sir James M. Barrie's popular play, "Half an Hour." The picture will run Monday and Tuesday.

Miss Dalton has the role of the daughter of an impoverished British aristocrat. She is practically sold by her father to become the wife of a rich American. He loves her, but her coldness finally leads him to treat her badly. She finds solace in the attentions of a handsome young English philanderer of her own rank in society. He finally persuades her to flee with him and she is at his apartment for that purpose when he is killed in an accident. The dramatic events that follow lead to a reconciliation between the young wife and her husband.

An excellent cast supports Miss Dalton and includes Charles Richman, Albert Barrett, and Frank Losee. The picture, which is a Paramount release, was directed by Harley Knoles.

On Wednesday and Thursday, Tom Moore will appear in, "Stop Thief." Moore has been one of the most popular screen artists with the Maryville people, who will welcome his return in this latest Paramount picture. Theatre-goers will remember him in, $30 a week," one of his best pictures, which was shown here some time ago. Not much advance information is available on this picture, but considering the star, it is a safe bet that it will be worth your time and money.

Havana, which is rapidly becoming the Mecca for parched Americans, serves as the locale for many of the scenes in "Civilian Clothes" the new Paramount picture in which Thomas Meighan will be seen next Friday and Saturday. The only complaint which the players in the picture registered regarding their stay in the Cuban capital was that Director Hugh Ford kept them moving so fast that they had little time to fortify themselves against their return to the Great American Desert. However, Mr. Ford did not neglect the opportunities for using the famous Havana racetrack and the colorful carnival then being held in the city as background for scenes in the picture.

"Civilian Clothes," adapted from Thompson Buchanan's stage play of the same name, tells the story of Captain Sam McGinnis, who won Florence Lanham, a petted society girl, in France more on account of his handsome uniform than anything else and married her. On his return to America in ill-fitting civilian clothes, his bride is horribly disillusioned, but by a clever scheme Sam proves that a real man's worth is in his heart rather than his clothes. Martha Mansfield has the leading feminine role in the picture.

BURGLAR'S APPETITE RESULTS IN CAPTURE

Dayton, Ohio, April 23.—Dayton's "hungry burglar" is on trial.

Each night while out at "work" he would take time in a house to eat a meal from the icebox or cupboard.

He tarried too long at a midnight lunch and was caught.

PRAYER MEETINGS REPLACE CRAP GAME

Atlanta, Ga., April 23.—Professors at Emory University have a problem seldom faced by college faculties. Following the close of a two-weeks revival conducted by Dr. Plato T. Durham, the boys have developed such an intense religious fervor instructors became alarmed at the neglect of studies.

The proverbial "crap" game of the boys' school is replaced by prayer meetings lasting well into the morning.

SYMPTOMS WOMEN DREAD

Mrs. Wilson's Letter Should Be Read by All Women

Clearfield, Pa.—"After my last child was born last September I was unable to do all of my own work. I had severe pains in my left side every month and had fever and sick dizzy spells and such pains during my periods, which lasted two weeks. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound doing others so much good and thought I would give it a trial. I have been very glad that I did, for now I feel much stronger and do all of my work. I tell my friends when they ask me what helped me, and they think it must be a grand medicine. And it is. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. HARRY A. WILSON, R. F. D. 5, Clearfield, Pa.

The experience and testimony of such women as Mrs. Wilson prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct such troubles by removing the cause and restoring the system to a healthy normal condition. When such symptoms develop as backaches, bearing-down pains, displacements, nervousness and "the blues" a woman cannot act too promptly in trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound if she values her future comfort and happiness.

FESTIVE DANDELION RETURNS TO MARYVILLE LAWNS

Must Act Quickly If Blue Grass Is Saved—Stout Knife, Willing Hand Needed.

Now is the time for the return of the festive dandelion in a land where it is very unwelcome. We must decide quickly and get busy if we would save our pretty blue grass lawns, as it is a wonderful multiplier and soon crowds out the grass. Many persons say, "What's the use? They come again."

Now if they are really exterminated a stout knife, a willing hand, that cuts the plant just below the bulb is needed. The job is only half done then. They must be collected and hauled away, lest they dry up and return to us 70 fold.

Yesterday a ripe blossom was dried and the seeds counted. There were 184. Just think of it! Get busy. Women usually have to do the disagreeable things, which no one else will do, so let them begin. This is the great "Show Me State."

Show Maryville that the dandelion nuisance can and will be abated.

A gentleman said recently that in a small town where the children had been interested, prizes were offered by weight. his resulted in three hay racks full of the plant and $15.00 in cash for the children.

There is a mighty power for good in the children, if rightly directed. They should be interested in clearing this pest from the school yards first. In Kansas City some of the schools are now engaged in this good work with the children happy and full of enthusiasm.

If the women of the town would unite and two or more in each block, the home block for instance, get the help of the children, the great dandelion plague would soon be a thing of the past and once more we could be proud of our clean little city.

TEAPOT STILL MADE STRONG "TEA"

Los Angeles, April 22,—The "prize" moonshine still of Southern California has been seized, but its owner, who manufactured his "night cap" and his "morning's morning," or would it be termed an "eye opener," at his bedside, it at large. He went out of a window as Prohibition Agent Dan O'Leary entered the door.

United States Marshall Walton has the "prize" still. It is a minature affair, a teapot in size. Its owner, the occupant of a downtown rooming house, had it set up at the side of his bed.

Setting over the gas heater, the still worked while its owner slept, and morning, noon and night he always had a "jigger" of "hooch" close at hand.

RACHEL Spring 1921.

I noticed this morning, for the first time
That the lilac bush is going to bloom,
It has waited long and I have waited
Seven years spent in watching and waiting.
From thenceforth I shall call her Rachel.
It took the wooings of seven springs
To impregnate her with blossom.
Butterflies came for flowers that were not;
Bees hung oft aloft—then were gone.
Dripping spring rains beat green cups
And filled them—in her tender leaves
Which the spring sun supped up and emptied.
And the young breeze curled the soft leaves
Into crude shapes never intended by Nature.
And song and song, morning, noon and night,
The mating song of rainbow-colored birds.
The lilting, tilting, living, loving
Bird-song, heart-song, all day long!
And I, in my manifold duties of the home
Would sing, like the cup that runneth over,
Because I knew, and felt akin to spring!
But each year passed, is I in tender fashion
Searched 'neath every shoot, green leaf and twig,
In the most like and unlikeable places
For any sight of fruiting bud or bloom.
But I had not looked this year till this morning—
And lo! they are coming, the long watched for!
Coming in hordes of royal purple glory!
Now not in vain, bird-song, love-long
Not in vain now—hum and buzz of bee!
And breeze, there will be fragrance
Ah, Spring! come tip-toe with me and see!
Seven years!—'tis faded like mist and unremembered.
Seven years—Oh, Jacob-spring—our Rachel at least!

Freeze March 28.

Woe in the north-wind that blighted the heart of Rachel.
Woe to the hope to One who had watched and waited.
Will the spring time be able to reclaim her?

Freeze April 9.

'Tis finished; Laban Nature hath broken faith—
Worse!—with Leah hath wrought some jealous charm.
Once more to the fields of life. Oh, Jacob!
One year more to till, and toil, and wait and dream.

POPOCATEPETL NOW IN ANGRY MOOD

VOLUMES OF SMOKE AND GAS ARE POURING FROM VOLCANOE

NO LAVA HOWEVER

Scientists Make Trip To Crater Undergo Severe Hardships For Information.

Mexico City, April 23.—One large and several small new craters have opened on Mt. Popocatepetl from which gas and smoke are pouring, but there is no immediate danger of a flow of lava, according to the findings of the special commission of scientists appointed by the National Geological Institute. The commission has just returned to Mexico City with its report after undergoing severe hardships in order to observe the activities of the volcano. The effect of the report has been to remove much of the fear of the inhabitants of near by towns that a great eruption was imminent.

Senor Francisco de P. Tenoria, one of the members of the commission, in describing the trip up the mountain said:

"We started at Ameca, Meca, then went to Athxco. There we spent the night and the following day trudged up to San Antonio de Los Ranchos. The next morning we reached Santa Rita y Tlamacas. At all these points we installed seismograph apparatus to observe if there were any oscillations, but none was registered.

At Crater's Edge.

"After an arduous trip we reached the very mouth of the crater. We were able to remain there only ten minutes because of the great volume of smoke and gas being emitted. This filled our eyes and nostrils and we were compelled to prostrate ourselves in order to avoid being overcome. During these ten minutes we succeeded in filling several receptacles with particles thrown out of the crater. These we will carefully analyze to ascertain the gaseous and other elements they contain.

New Craters Formed.

"In out observations at the crater we discovered the new and smaller openings from which came torrents of sulphurous gases. From the side visible from Puebla we discovered various secondary craters recently developed and which might in time become dangerous. Around the top of the crater the snow, which is perpetual on the mountain, was covered with red sand.

"The noise and scene at the mouth of the crater are indescribable. Like steam escaping from a hundred locomotives the gas shoots forth and a great sound like the simultaneous discharge of many pieces of artillery made it seem as if the historic old mountain was about to burst. Immediately following this perfect quiet prevailed.

"There was no lava coming from the volcano and we did not see any flashes of fire at night, as described by natives of the region. The emissions were purely of smoke and gas. There is no danger at present, in my opinion. The only cause for alarm would be if through any electrical storm or friction the gases should become ignited. This might make it unsafe for the residents in that territory."

AIR OMNIBUS CARRIES MORE THAN TWO TONS

London, April 22,—An air omnibus is being built for the Air Ministry by the Bristol Company. It will be called "The Tramp," and will be capable of carrying about two and a half tons.

It will be used mainly for carrying spare parts from one aerodrome to another.

The bus will have four engines, each of 220 horse power and the frame is especially built for carrying freight. The machine will have three decks. It will not travel at a great speed, but is intended to be a sort of "good air train"—a modification of a Pullman.

COLORADO, NEW MEXICO CHAPTERS DO BIG WORK.

Seventy-one chapters of the American Red Cross in Colorado and 35 in New Mexico, formerly part of the Mountain Division of the organization, have been formally transferred to the jurisdiction of the Southwestern Division with headquarters at St. Louis, and are now functioning under the new arrangement. The Mountain division has been discontinued and the Denver headquarters closed, as part of a general reorganization plan in the interest of centralization and operating economy.

The Colorado and New Mexico chapters during the four years of operation under the Mountain Division took part in a notable record of accomplishment, according to a summary of activities just compiled. During the war period a total of 11,409,000 articles, including 10,000,000 surgical dressings the whole valued at $1,866,000, were made and sent overseas by the 172 chapters of that division.
